“As a long-time Patron, I can’t say enough about the AIA leadership’s desire to give Patrons every opportunity to effectively engage with the membership. As with any organization, you get out of it what you put into it, but you can be assured that the AIA board and staff want to see Patrons get a return on what they understand is a very important investment. I look forward to many more years of involvement as each year brings new opportunities to get that return.”
